EDUCATION

The Laboratory's goal in education is to enhance regional Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics (STEM) education and enrichment initiatives.

Mentoring and Tutoring Programs:

Ohkay Owingeh math and science tutors for high school students. Lab employees supported students at Ohkay Owingeh in specific math areas that included pre-algebra 1 and 2, trigonometry, and geometry. Science areas included physical science, chemistry, biology, and physics.

Pojoaque High School mentoring program. Mentors spend time with students and participate in school activities and meet with students at least twice a month.

Nambe Pueblo Math & Reading tutors for elementary students. Lab employees tutor students on reading, math and science.

Justina Coriz of Cochiti Pueblo is studying business administration at Haskell Indian Nations University in Lawrence, KS

Native American Student Scholarships

Native American scholarship recipients in 2017 included Pennie Ballinger of Pojoaque Pueblo, Justina Coriz of Cochiti Pueblo, and Jahneah Martinez of Ohkay Owingeh Pueblo.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

The Laboratory is committed to investing and partnering in economic development initiatives and programs that help stimulate business growth, create jobs, and strengthen communities in northern New Mexico. We partner with the Regional Development Corporation to implement programs that provide coaching, networking, research, technical assistance, and investments that positively impact regional businesses. The Native American Venture Acceleration Fund (NAVAF), created by LANS, makes financial awards to Native American companies or tribally owned companies for technical services which lead to increased revenues and employment for the company.
